2. Overall Objective and Project Purpose

2.1 Overall Objective
The overall objective of the project is to further enhance the environment conductive to development and financial sustainability of civil society.

2.2 Project purpose
The purpose is to enhance the capacities of civil society for active participation in policy creation and decision making, at local and national levels, in important areas such as, but not limited to: human rights, freedom of expression, media and Roma inclusion. The project will also support the financial sustainability of the civil society by improved implementation of the relevant national financial legislation and procedures, as well as enhanced cooperation between state bodies, CSOs and private sector.

2.3 Link with AP/NPAA/SAA
The Accession Partnership outlines a series of priorities to be addressed in the area of civil society. The AP stresses the importance of ensuring transparency in the administration, in particular in the decision-making process, and calls for further promoting active participation by civil society in the decision making processes.

The National Program for Adoption of Acquis with regard to civil society plans for further inclusion of civil-society in the decision-making process, ensuring participation of the civil sector in the work of expert councils of the Government, as well as for providing training to the NGOs representatives on issues in the sphere of human freedoms and rights.

The project will contribute towards the implementation of the Stabilisation and Association Agreement objective of “development of civic society and democratisation”.
2.4 Link with MIPD
The MIPD 2011-2013 advocates promoting an active role of civil society in the decision making process and calls for broad participation of civil society. The MIPD notes that even though involvement of Civil Society Organisations in policy making and in legislative drafting progressed to a moderate extent, there is still a considerable space for furthering the implementation of the Government’s strategy and action plan for cooperation with Civil Society Organisations in the coming years.

2.5 Link with National Development Plan
N/A

2.6 Link with national/sectoral investment plans
The project directly links to the following key strategies and action plans in the sector (see annex 4 for a more extensive list):
- Strategy for the cooperation of the Government with the Civil Sector, 2007;
- Action plan for implementation of the Strategy for cooperation with CSOs, 2007;
- Strategy for Equitable Representation, 2007;
- Strategy on Public Administration Reforms, 2010;
- National Strategy for Youth;
- National Agenda on Corporate Social Responsibility 2008;
- National Strategy for the Roma and the Roma Inclusion Decade;

3. Description of project

3.1 Background and justification
In terms of the legal framework, the right and freedom of association is enshrined in the Constitution (art. 20), with restrictions for associations supporting racial, religious or national hatred and violence. This right, provided for in the Constitution, is expressed in the legal framework of the Law on Associations and Foundations. A new Law on citizens associations and foundations is now in force, approved by the Parliament on 12.04.2010 (Official Gazette No. 52/10), which provides the freedom of association of natural and legal persons, nationals and non-nationals; the freedom and independence in determining the objectives, adoption of the decisions and planning of the activities; the good management by means of establishing an internal system of control; and transparency and publicity in operations. Additionally, the Law allows associations, foundations and unions to directly perform economic activities without establishing a company. The Law prescribes that the revenues gained from such activity have to be used for financing the work of the organisation. It is expected that this solution will strengthen the economic potential of civil society. With the aim of enhancing the sustainability of civil organisations, the Law defines the status of Public benefit organisations as organisations working for the common good and public interest. According to the Law, registered Public Benefit organisations will receive support from the state through tax and customs exemptions, in accordance with the law.

The number of newly registered civil society organisations in the period of 1990 to 1998 is calculated to amount to 3,295 (by UNDP, 1999). By adopting the Law on Citizen Associations and Foundations from 1998, all organisations were re-registered by the Ministry of the Interior or in the competent courts. According to the official data form the Central Register, 9900 CSOs were registered in the period until December 2008. This number includes all CSOs registered from 1998, without data for their current status (active or non active). The new Law on association and foundations obligates the CSOs to re-register in the Central Register. Hence, it is expected that one year following the entry into force of the new Law, the accurate number of active CSOs will be obtained. In addition, there are more than 200 umbrella bodies of CSOs in the country. A majority of the organisations are members of a union, federation, platform or other umbrella body, based on the mission of the of CSO or their target group.

The 2010 progress report notes that civil society has received extensive financial support from the EU under the Civil Society Facility. EU funding is given through different national and regional horizontal IPA programmes, and includes aid to establish the national civil society forum, capacity building to civil society organisations, and the assistance to regional NGO support centres. The national programmes provide significant support to improve the development and sustainability of civil society organisations and further capacity building of the Government Unit for NGO cooperation.

The 2010 progress report notes that the newly enacted Law on citizens’ associations and foundations provided for wider practice of the right of association; the government’s strategy and action plan for cooperation with civil society organisations continues to be implemented; involvement of civil society in the policy development process and in legislative drafting is growing. Nonetheless, the report was the attention given to the need for developing a consistent approach to encouraging all-inclusive public participation in decision making and further improvement of the system for allocation of state financing of civil society organisations, in particular as regards the public benefit organisations. Civil society organisations remain heavily dependent on foreign funding and the lack of sufficient financial resources remains a serious constraint.

In terms of the institutional framework, the first steps for institutionalised relations between the Government and civil society were made in November 2004 with the creation of the Unit for NGO Cooperation under the General Secretariat of the Government. The initiative for establishing the Civil Society Unit, adopted by the Government in November 2004, expressed the readiness of the Government to build up and strengthen cooperation with civil society. This initiative supports the Government’s objective to further develop civil society as well as the need to develop a specific programme for cooperation.

With the implementation of the Strategy for cooperation between the Government and the Civil Sector, the Government focuses on improving the conditions to stimulate a sustainable development of civil society. The involvement of civil society in the decision making process is also included in the Government’s Decision for strategic priorities for 2011. The Strategy for cooperation between the Government and the Civil Sector is focused on the collaboration with civil society organisations, which refers to the definition where “a civil society organisation” encompasses solely those organisations registered according to the Law on Citizen Associations and Foundations which are non-profitable, non-political and founded in order to exercise and protect heterogeneous economic, social, cultural and other rights and convictions, as defined in the Constitution.

Annually, the state financial support for civil society organisations is allocated by ministries and other state bodies, as well as directly from the Government. In order to ensure transparency, to provide the basic criteria and monitoring the spending of funds, the Government adopted a Code of good practices for financial support of civil associations and foundations, a Decision on the criteria and procedure for allocation of funds for the program activities of associations and foundations, and the Program for funding the program activities of Civil Associations and Foundations. In recent years the amount of funds allocated as financial support for CSOs is growing, in 2010 approximately 350 000 euros have been allocated. But despite the intention of the state to support civil society, these are small amounts to meet the basic needs for the development of the sector.

3.2 Assessment of project impact, catalytic effect, sustainability and cross border impact
The project is expected to strengthen the participation of civil society organisations in the policy-making process and in legislative drafting for fostering meaningful dialogue between the Government and civil society on national development policies, legislation, programmes or other strategic documents. It is also expected that this project will contribute towards better implementation of financial legislation and procedures, and enhanced cooperation between the state, CSOs and the private sector. The final impact of the project activities will result in the development of a strong and independent civil society with enhanced capacities to act proactively in relevant fields such as protection of human rights and Roma inclusion, as well as freedom of expression and media.

3.3 Results and measurable indicators
The project will consist of one component: Implementation of the Grant Schemes focused on two (2) main thematic priorities:

1) Enhancing the involvement of civil society in the creation of public opinion, policy making and participation in the decision making mechanisms at local and national level;
2) Strengthening the financial sustainability of civil society organisations and the cooperation between state bodies, civil society and private sector.

The expected results include:
Under thematic priority number 1:
- More functional and consistent institutional mechanisms for all-inclusive public participation of CSOs in policy creation and decision making, especially in the policy fields where civil society engagement is particularly valuable for the country's successful accession to the EU, including proper implementation of the Code of Good Practices for CSOs’ participation in the decision making process;
- Strengthened capacities of civil society organisations in networking and development of partnerships with government (on national and local level), including implementation of the 8 local strategies for cooperation between municipalities and CSOs;
- More continuous monitoring of Government obligations as to increase its accountability;
- Wider recognition and more solid respect of Freedom of Expression and freedom of mass communication means, as well as of human rights, including the ones prioritised in the national and local action plans for implementation of the Strategy for Roma inclusion.

Under thematic priority number 2:
- Implementation of the national legislation providing an enhanced financial framework to increase sustainability of civil society organisations;
- Fiscal measures and policy instruments assessed, to promote private support for civil society charity activities;
- Established partnership among national CSO funding agencies and government departments allocating public funds to civil society and facilitating civil society efforts as public benefit organisations;
- Increased capacities of civil society organisations in fund raising and managing funds.

The Measurable indicators include:
- Conducted surveys on public events for promoting the importance of philanthropic initiatives;
- Number of public debates and events for greater involvement of national media to promote philanthropy;
- Number of implemented joint activities among civil society, state and/or business sector, and stakeholders satisfaction through surveys;
- Number of established partnerships and networks, still on-going one year after completion of the project;
- Amount of local resources mobilised;
- Number of realised trainings and good practice examples of CSOs contributions in relevant areas (e.g. national and local action plans for Roma inclusion; human rights agenda, media, etc)

3.4 Activities

Implementation of the Grant schemes
- Draft the grant scheme guidelines and implement awareness raising activities for CSOs in grant schemes (information sessions, visibility measures, public events, etc.);
- Respond to questions for clarification;
- Evaluation of proposals received;
- Guidance to grant holders;
- Input in approval of interim/final narrative and financial reports of the grant holders;
- Monitor implementation process and review reports received from the grantees.

Project Management and Administration

Implementation of the Grant schemes
The Unit for cooperation with NGOs in the General secretariat of the Government will implement effective and efficient management of the grant schemes. The capacities of the Unit are in the process of being strengthened through Technical Assistance from IPA National Programmes 2007 and 2008.

CFCD, The Senior Programme Officer of the General Secretariat (SPO), the working group for technical implementation of transition assistance and institution building component within the General Secretariat, and the Unit for cooperation with NGOs will be responsible for the overall management, representation (co-ordination with the EU and other international bodies), as well as reporting.

CFCD is in charge of tendering, contracting and payments of EU funded projects and of overall supervision of projects implemented under DIS in the country.

The SPO is responsible for preparation and technical management of the project and for managing the project team within the General Secretariat.

The working group for technical implementation of transition assistance and the institution building component within the General Secretariat and Unit for cooperation with NGOs will be responsible for tasks connected to programming, technical implementation of the project, monitoring and reporting, under the coordination of the SPO.

The SPO is responsible for an appropriate management of resources.

The expected contracting arrangements are:
Minimum 15 grants will be signed after maximum two calls for proposals for the different areas. The contracts will be for a period between 12 to 18 months and following the IPA 2008, IPA 2009 and IPA 2010 their value will range from 40.000 (minimum amount) to 150.000 EUR (maximum amount). The overall budget for the project is 1.500.000 EUR, out of which 1.200.000 EUR IPA contribution, 10% national co-financing and 10% co-financing from the final grant beneficiaries of the overall budget of the respective individual grant amount.

3.5 Conditionality and sequencing
The project includes the following conditionality:
- The IPA 2010 Grant Schemes/s are contracted;
- Availability of at least 3 employees as counterpart personnel by the beneficiary institution before the launch of the tender process.

In the event that conditionality is not met, suspension or cancellation of projects will be considered.

3.6 Linked activities
Several CARDS projects included a CSO strengthening component, with an emphasis on capacity building of CSOs, supporting the cooperation among the CSOs and between CSOs and national/local authorities, as well as institutional capacity building for selected umbrella civil society organisations.

CARDS 2004 addressed the provision of assistance to the Government in developing a strategy for the third sector and in establishing a civil society unit within the Government structures. This project has produced four main results:
- A Strategy of the Government for cooperation with the civil society sector, incorporating a mapping and comparison of similar practices in other transition countries with respect to cooperation between governments and civil society. On the basis of the mapping and comparisons, the strategy incorporated recommendations for the specific context of the country;
- Developed Training and Capacity Building Plan and its subsequent implementation in which capacity building needs for the Unit and liaison officers in other governmental institutions were addressed;
- Developed and implemented visibility measures in close cooperation with the Unit's staff. These visibility measures incorporate website, publications, dissemination material, networking activities, conferences and other activities that reach out to civil society in the country;
- Developed recommendations for transparent selection criteria and selection procedures for governmental support to CSOs on a competitive basis. These recommendations resulted in a draft system of budget allocation for governmental support to CSOs.

Under IPA 2008 a project has been agreed to support the development and capacity building of the Non-governmental sector through improved involvement of CSOs in the process of drafting legislation and regulations (particularly those connected to the EU integration process, as well as public awareness raising), increased participation of CSOs in providing social services and community-based activities, improved capacities to mobilise resources and voluntary work and improved involvement in the field of democracy and the rule of law. Initially defined areas for grant schemes are:

- CSO participation in the process of drafting legislation and regulations and the monitoring of the implementation of legislation;
- Awareness raising vis-à-vis the EU integration process;
- Fight against corruption and organised crime;
- Improving the quality of inter ethnic relations;
- Strengthening CSO management and networking, including joint implementation of community based activities and social services, Resource Mobilisation, Mobilising voluntary work, institutional cooperation between CSOs and between CSOs and local government.

The project will be implemented in close relation to the regional project for civil society developed under the Multi-Beneficiary IPA Programme 2008.

IPA 2009 includes also a project aiming at strengthening the capacity of Civil Society focusing on the following initially defined areas for grant schemes:

- Fight against corruption and organised crime (including fight against trafficking of human beings and fight against illegal substances and support in drug information campaigns on local and national level in primary schools)
- Strengthening the CSO management and networking, including joint implementation of community based activities and social services, resource mobilisation, mobilising voluntary work, institutional cooperation between CSOs and between CSOs and the central and local government.
- Protection of human rights, with special focus on vulnerable people, support to the victims of family violence, mobilisation of the local municipalities for the prevention of HIV/AIDS/STI amongst the most at risk adolescents and supporting the activities within the Decade for Roma inclusion 2005 – 2015 and the National Strategy for Roma in RM.

IPA 2010, like the previous programmes, aims to keep on strengthening the civil society sector through increased capacity for self sustainability and an enhanced role of CSOs in the decision making process at local level.

EU financial support has been provided to civil society also through the regional Multi-Beneficiary IPA Programme 2008, 2009 and 2010.

The European Commission Communication on the Enlargement Strategy and Main Challenges 2007-2008 underlined the importance of civil society being able to play its role in a participatory democracy. The "Civil Society Facility" (CSF) was set up as the tool to financially support the development of civil society.

The CSF focuses on three types of activity:

- Support to local civic initiatives and capacity-building, increasing the abilities and visibility of civil society organisations at a national level;
- “People 2 People” programmes support visits to EU institutions and bodies to exchange experiences, know-how and good practices between IPA beneficiaries and EU civil society organisations;
- Partnership actions implemented by IPA beneficiary and EU civil society organisations to encourage the transfer of knowledge, establish networks and implement innovative trans-national projects.

A network of technical assistance desks (TACSO) has been established in the Western Balkans. This network became operational in autumn 2009 and is financed under the IPA 2008 and 2009 CSF Multi-beneficiary programmes.

The Cross Border Cooperation component of IPA likewise supports social, economic and cultural project activities that can be implemented also by civil society organisations. The added value is that it provides small direct financial support to CSOs in different thematic priority areas in comparison to previous IPA national programmes.

3.7 Lessons learned

The 2009 Country interim evaluation report notes that the precise measurement of the IPA programme performance thus far is compromised by the lack of true measurable indicators at both the impact level of individual projects, as well as within the MIPD itself, however it can be seen that the contribution made by the assistance to the MIPD objectives is broadly positive.

The report likewise observed that the presence of sufficient administrative capacity and organisational structures, a pre-condition for the effective achievement of strategic objectives, varies throughout the CARDS assistance, but is stronger in the more recent projects under the IPA programme.

Strong commitment from senior management and various final beneficiaries remains crucial for the overall implementation of the project activities.

The experience of the previous grants schemes for the support of the civil society through IPA 2008, 2009 and 2010 is to be used when preparing the specific guidelines and application packages in order to improve and simplify the procedures.

The experience generated thus far accentuates the need for continuing the organisation of information sessions so as to increase the level of awareness and readiness to apply, contributing to the increased number of applications and number of successful applicants. In addition, the experience of the Unit for cooperation with NGO in managing the cooperation and support of the civil society with funds from the State Budget demonstrates the high interest for applications, as well as relatively high rates of complete and well-argumented applications. The capacity of the Unit has thus far proven adequate to organise both the awareness raising activities, as well as to manage the evaluation process in a timely manner.

The Unit for cooperation with NGOs in cooperation with CFCD should invest in their capacities for better promotion and transfer of knowledge for all outstanding issues when applying the experience accumulated to be concentrated and used as straight to the point tips and instructions.

6. Cross cutting issues

6.1 Civil Society Development and Dialogue
Support the financial sustainability of civil society as an objective of the project will directly contribute to civil society development and dialogue. It is expected that the project will lead to strengthening of the organisational level of the civil sector, to higher and more sustainable levels of funding and improved cooperation between CSOs and the business sector.

6.2 Environmental Considerations
The grant schemes will support the involvement of the CSOs in the economic growth of the country. The connections between the state, civil sector and business sector will ensure the contribution of individuals in overall development and welfare of the society. Through the process of selection of the grant holders the environmental issues in their projects will be taken into consideration.

6.3 Equal Opportunities and non-discrimination
Reference will be made to the Government Gender Strategy and the EC Programme of Action for the mainstreaming of gender equality in community development cooperation (2001-06). An output of these activities will be to assist the beneficiary to implement an ‘internal gender assessment’ to identify areas where it could improve its internal performance vis-à-vis gender.

6.4 Minority and Vulnerable Groups
The present project is expected to have an additional impact on equal treatment of minorities and vulnerable groups.

6.5 Good-governance and Fight against Corruption
The present project is expected to have an additional impact for furthering good governance and fight against corruption through implementation of different grants.

- Organising regional conferences and similar events in order to exchange experiences with other EU candidate states, including the newest member states, for modes of cooperation of their governments and the civil sector, as well as participating in such events organised by the counterpart countries.

Reference to National Plan for Adoption of Acquis (2010)
The Plan has following priorities with regard to civil society: “Until the end of 2011, the implementation of the Action plan for implementation of the Strategy for cooperation of the Government with the civil sector (2007-2011) will continue. The Revision of implementation of the Strategy for cooperation of the Government with the civil sector with recommendations for improvement of the cooperation is planned to be finalised in mid 2011”

Reference to SAA (2001)
The program addresses the objectives of the SAA for “the development of civic society and democratisation”.

Reference to the Progress Report (2010)
The 2010 progress report notes that civil society has received extensive financial support from the EU under the Civil Society Facility. EU funding is given through different national and regional horizontal IPA programmes, and includes aid to establish the national civil society forum, capacity building to civil society organisations, and the assistance to regional NGO support centres. The national programmes provide significant support to improve the development and sustainability of civil society organisations and further capacity building of the government unit for NGO cooperation.

The 2010 progress report notes development in the relevant field, as following: the newly enacted Law on citizen’s associations and foundations provided for wider practice of the right of association; the government’s strategy and action plan for cooperation with civil society organisations continues to be implemented; involvement of civil society in the policy development process and in legislative drafting is growing. Nonetheless, the report also pointed the need to be developed a consistent approach to encouraging all-inclusive public participation in decision making, including appropriate institutional mechanisms.

Another important aspect from the report was the need for further improvement of the system for allocation of state financing of civil society organisations, in particular as regards to the public benefit organisations. Civil society organisations remain heavily dependent on foreign funding and the lack of sufficient financial resources remains a serious constraint.
